(17) Dr. Taylon's Balsam or Liverwork.—This celebrated vegetable medicine has been in use for the last nine years, with wonderful success, in curing all coughs, colds, and diseases of the lungs and liver.

Pain it the Side and Barsst.—These diseases have saused me much trouble, and often prevented my attending to business. Every medicine I heard of I tried, but found no relief. As a last resource, I concluded to try Dr. Taylor's Balsam of Liverwort. As soon as I did, I grew better, and have been gaining ever since; am now in good health, and can truly recommend this Balsam as being far superior to anything else.

(G)— Ds. Taylon's Balsam or Liverwort.—Tickling in the Throat.—I know Dr. Taylor's Balsam, from 241 Spring street, to be a certain remedy for this complaint. I have used it myself, and found it effect an immediate cure. M. Henshaw, 11 Mangin street.—Severe cough, and visitent pains. For several years I was much troubled, and found no relief until I used the Balsam of Liverwort from 241 Spring st. Through the blessings of God I have been entirely cured. Catherine Fowler, 106 King street, near Hudson. Consumption Cured.—For three years I was severely sifficted and given up by many physicians, who had done all in their power for my recovery. For six months I was confined to my room, and every week threatened to be my last. I had no appetite, and daily I wasted, until I was a mere skeleton. In those dark hours I saw my hope, though all seemed blank, and at once procured the Balsam of Liverwort from 241 Spring street. Through Divine Providence I delly improved and gained strength and appetite. The first bottle made me very comfortable, and three bottles cured me. William (Weeks, Sands street, Brool-dyn. M'Alister were to procure the money, achear admission on their part, that they did not have it to lend, on that of the commissioner that he knew they was to get frem some other source, and that by the use of the bonds, which he selivered to them before he received his money. And the contract contained no restriction against their hypothecating them. In the sequel it appears that Stebbins & M'Alister did hypothecate them, but failed toraire as much for the commissioner as they agreed to do. The State, on its part, failed to redeem the bonds at the expiration of the time. The bonds had fallen very heavy in the market, and the house failed.—The commissioner taking advantage of the fact, that he had not received quite althe money agreed upon, applied for an injunction, to prevent innocent third parties to whom the bonds had been hypothecated, from disposing of hom. That injunction was most unjustly granted, and has the market price of the beads been sufficiently high to aver the bonds at the time, would have been a mitter of serious loss to the parties. The commissioner then called a meeting of the helders, and made a proposition, which we believe has been agreed upon, as folows:—The holders to deposite their bonds with the 'gust Company, and to get from the receiver a receipt for the number of bonds. The State is then to pay as msclas it has received, $102,000, within 30 days, to be di-videbre rate among the holders. The parties will thus get, ithe State keeps the contract, more than they could get by selling the bonds. The injunction has now been dissolved, and Stebbins & M'Alister, being released from dissolved, and observed the payment of their other engagements and are now doing business as usual. The whole tansaction has, however, a very suspicious air about it.

The last men-tioned State fails from accident. The bonds were issued tioned State falls from accident. The bonds were issued to the State Bank and the Real Estate Bank of Arkansas, and are secured by mortgages of the property of the bank stockholders. The banks to declare no dividend until the bonds are paid. The Real Estate Bank has sent to this city some bills which mature in this city, and which the Phenix Bank was to have discounted to meet the Jan uary interest. The pressure in the market, however, prevented them from so doing. The State Bank has ship ped specie which is on its way, but will not arrive until the latter part of January, when the interest will be paid.

In relation to the debt of Maryland, the following passage from the Message of Governor Grayson, will afford a full explanation :-

passage from the Message of Governor Grayson, will afford a full explanation:

The nature and extent of our pecuniary embarrassments are so well understood, that it is only necessary, at the present time, to notice the new aspect which they have assumed since the lest session of the Legislature.—The law, then passed, for assessing and taxing the whole property of the State, was intended to provide a permanent revenue, of sufficient amount to pay the interest of the public debt punctually as it became due. But as it was known that some time must elapse before the proceeds of the tax could be collected and paid into the treasury, the Commissioner of Leans was authorised to borrow five hundred thousand dollars, for the purpose of supplying the deficiency in the revenue for the present year. Loans were obtained, principally from the banks, to the amount of about four hundred thousand dollars, which enabled him to discharge the interest of the public debt on the first of Jally and the first of October; but it was impossible to borrow a sufficient sum for the next quarterly payment; and I regret to say that the State is without the means of paying the interest which will be come due on the first of January. It will be understood, however, both athome and abroad, that the Legislature, in laying a permanent tax for paying the interest of the public debt, and in authorising a loan for supplying the temporary deficiency of the revenue, did all that was then in their power to comply with the obligations of the State. The assessment returns have not been received from all the counties, and the amount of taxable property in the State is not yet ascertained. It will probably fall short of the general estimate, and in that case a nigher rate of taxation, than is provided for in the bill of last session, will be required to meet the increasing demands on the treasury. The public debt is now fifteen millions two hundred and thirteen thousand dollars, of which about ten millions may be considered as bearing on the State.

In rel

In relation to the Banks, the has the following:

The banks of this State have persisted so long in refusing to redeem their notes, that there is no reason to expect that they will return of their own accord to the path marked out to them by their charters. It is now a question for the Legislature to determine how much longer they are to be permitted to disregard the laws of the State and the rights of the community.

The opinion may still be entertained, that the State banks can never be properly regulated without the aid of a National Bank; and that, at their present condition is attributable to the want of such an institution, ho remedy can be provided by State legislation. A reference to the banking system of England, will show show far a great monied institution, connected with the government, has had the effect of limiting the number, or regulating the issues of local and private banks.

It would be very difficult for the Governor to show how a National Bank would compel the banks to resume. That was a feat that the late National Bank strove seven years in vain to accomplish the Message opposes a protective tariff at length.

The State of Pennsylvania, in addition to the above, will undoubtedly fail, but her debt is not due until February. She has see hand, according to the statement of the Treasurer, pat $500,000, and that is not sufficient to pay the necessary repairs upon the public works to embly them to commence the spring business. In 1839, the State had $1,300,000 on hand, and failed after all.
